

Madison Loan Review

Summary

The Madison SystemTM is a comprehensive set of tools, analytics and reports for the risk management and administration of commercial loan portfolios.

Technology

The Madison SystemTM is a browser-based application that may be hosted on client or third party servers. Eliminate silos of information – share information with all authorized users regardless of location.

System Benefits

The Madison SystemTM will help you to cost-effectively manage the loan review process.

More Information

For more information call (781) 639-8171 or visit us at: www.madisonassociatesllc.com.

The Madison SystemTM includes special features to support the independent loan review process. The System can be used solely for this purpose by a loan review department, or by the entire commercial lending division. Loan portfolio information may be reviewed by the department, and the results of their analysis may be saved for future loan reviews. Loan Review personnel may have read or read/write access as determined by each client.

Sample Selection and Coverage

Use the Sample Selector to select loans for review then quickly and easily evaluate coverage by criteria such as collateral type, market, loan officer, loan grade, loan purpose, industry, loan size, or origination office.

Monitor Progress and Results

Manage and report on the progress of the review. Display loans that have been reviewed and all grade changes. Identify loans that have not yet been reviewed. Share progress reports with others online or by periodic e-mail.

Save Loan Review Results

Save loan review results, analysis and documents in the System so that they are available for future loan reviews.

Remote Access

Remote access to the System allows data capture in one location and analysis in another, which may reduce travel time and expense.

Data Import Utility

If the System is used solely by the Loan Review function, loan and collateral data may be imported into the System from servicing or accounting systems.
